Strategy

The objective of this sub-fund of the MFM FUND is to replicate as closely as possible the rising phases of the benchmark index while reducing risk during periods of decline. To achieve this, behavioural finance parameters are used to optimise both the timing of specific and sector-related decisions and the strategic allocations.

Fund manager comment

The uncertainty caused by an increased likelihood of a trade war between the United States and its trade partners around the world has put further pressure on financial markets. The European Equity market lost the initial progress it made to finish the month at -0.32%. The fund has been penalised by the industrials recent overweight and its increased exposure to the financials sectors. It finished the month with a loss of 2.97%, abandoning some of its over performance realised in the last 2 months.

We continue to expect some good contribution from the telecom and the banking sector in the next few weeks. When the trade noise will calm down industrials should start to come back to a valuation more in line with the strong fundamentals of the global economy and the good performance of the European one.

Globally, markets have reached a very low level of comfort and our behavioural dashboard has clearly turned positive. Anyway, we monitor with attention the volatility development and won't hesitate to reduce risk in order to contain it at the upper end of our volatility index bracket.
