Fund Manager's Comments

The first quarter of 2015 ended with a strong outperformance of European stocks. The weaker EUR did also help: the EURO stoxx 50 Index is only up 4.18% ytd in USD. Since inception, the MSCI World (USD) is up 1.02%, the HFRX Equities Hedge Index up 2.50% and the MFM Global Thematic Fund (USD) is up 2.42%. The Fund maintained a very low net long exposure to Equities last month. We bought LG Display to increase our Korean Tech Basket while we remain very bullish on Samsung Electronics, our largest position. We also initiated a new Theme: Brazilian small caps. Corruption scandal within Petrobras and the government, massive protests in the streets, negative Economist cover a couple of month ago: these are all the reasons to get involved now. After these bad news, investors might soon focus on the more positive headlines coming with the 2016 Rio Olympic Games. We believe that the current risk/reward is compelling as small companies are trading below book value and that the very weak Real gives us a good entry point. Finally, we like the fact that Brazilian small caps are not very active in the commodity sector, giving us mostly exposure to the raising Brazilian middle class. On the short side, as you probably already know, we don't like the valuation of Amazon, please discover our bear case in our last CNBC interview by clicking here.
