Fund Manager's Comments

The Fund was down -1.07% in November while our benchmark was up 0.78%. The underperformance came from our EM exposure and our renewable energy theme. Strong US dollar and US Stock markets did not help our monthly performance as we are underweight both. US markets have never been so expensive and we continue to find better opportunities in the rest of the world so far. On the positive side, Samsung Electronics reached new highs and confirmed our bullish stance. The company did well during these difficult times caused by the battery issues. Please click here to watch our last interview on Samsung Electronics. The Mexican market corrected significantly due to the fear of future US protectionism measures. We believe that it is overdone and started to look for interesting thematic ideas with low US exposure. We invested in two new Themes: "Mexican toll roads" and "Mexican Real Estate" both corrected more than 30% in USD over the last 2 months. We favored defensive sectors in a higher risk country. Finally, the fund crossed the 50mio threshold in assets under management, thanks to the recent inflows.
